 - (iii) If the Contractor is rendered permanently unable, wholly or in part, by reason of force majeure to perform its obligations and meet its responsibilities under the Contract, the Commission shall have the right to terminate the Contract on the same terms and conditions as are provided for in the Termination Clause of the Contract, except that the period of notice may be seven (7) days instead of thirty (30) days;
 - (iv) For the purpose of the preceding sub-clause, the Commission may consider the Contractor permanently unable to perform in case of any period of suspension in excess of ninety (90) days. Any such period of ninety (90) days or less shall be deemed temporary inability to perform.

21. INSOLVENCY AND BANKRUPTCY

The conciliation shall take place in accordance with the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL) Conciliation Rules then prevailing, or according to such other procedure as may be agreed between the parties, within a time period of ninety (90) days. There shall be one conciliator. The conciliation shall be in Vienna, Austria, and it shall be conducted in the English language.

- (d) The Commission's right to inspect, test and, where necessary, reject the Goods after the Goods' arrival at the point of delivery designated by the Commission or at the Commission's offices, shall in no way be limited or waived by reason of the Goods' having previously been inspected, tested and passed by the Commission.
- (e) Nothing in this Section on Inspections and Tests shall in any way release the Contractor from any warranty or other obligations under the Contract.
- (f) All equipment/material supplied under the Contract may be subject to pre-shipment inspection by a third party to be specified by the Commission. The Contractor is not liable for cost of this inspection.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

SUPPLY AND INSTALLATION OF AUXILIARY GENERATOR AT RN19 EASTER ISLAND, CHILE

1 INTRODUCTION

The existing backup generator and automatic transfer switch is from 2010 and has multiple severe malfunctions, leading to loss of data availability and detector warm up. The generator serves as backup auxiliary power generator for AS018/RPN, I13CL, CLP19 and CLX19.

An automatic transfer switch (ATS) swaps the station electrical load to the generator in the event of a mains power failure. The ATS switch have been reviewed by the generator service company and found to be in good condition and have no need for replacement. More information on CTBTO can be found under www.ctbto.org

2 SITE DESCRIPTION

The station is located on Easter Island, Chile. Backup power is provided by a diesel generator installed on a concrete base next to the station building.

In 2018, a shed was constructed to cover the generator to protect the generator and external fuel tank from wind and rain.

Figure 2 Existing generator and fuel tank on concrete base, front and back before the generator shed was constructed.

Figure 3 Existing generator and fuel tank on concrete base, front and back after the generator shed was constructed

3. Generator

The backup generator is required to supply power to all electrical equipment installed at the station and be of sufficient capacity to handle the start-up current of all equipment.

The new generator must be a diesel Atlas Copco QES 30 KD 50Hz 400V 3PH or similar, in order to be compatible with the existing ATS switch interface. Similar generator models with higher power production can be accepted under the condition that it can be fitted and installed in the generator shed at the station.

The generator must have a waterproof chassis, dual stage air filter and dual stage fuel filter.

There must be a manual oil drain pump, emergency stop and soundproof booth and exhaust with silencer. The generator must have a SEC certification.

The generator must have lifting eyes for crane lift.

Commissioning of the generator must be included, including connecting to the ATS switch, the external diesel external fuel tank located outside of the generator building.

The generator must be connected to the ATS for automatic generator start-up in case of mains power outage and return to mains power supply after mains power has been restored.

The commissioning must include testing of the setup and instructions for the station operator on the use and service of the new generator.

The generator should come with a one-year warranty as minimum.

WORK TASKS:

- The contractor must supply and install one diesel generator and one automatic transfer switch and integrate it into the existing station infrastructure located on Easter Island, Chile.
- The contractor must also disconnect the old generator and remove it from the generator shed before installation of the new generator.
- The old generator must also be shipped (DAP 2020 (door to door)) to the mainland of Chile and further delivered to the station operator Chilean Nuclear Energy Commission, Nueva Bilbao 12 501 Las Condes, Santiago, Chile.
- All other materials such as shipping boxes, installation materials and excess materials must be removed from the station after the completion of the installation of the new generator and must be shipped to the mainland of Chile for disposal.
- The generator must be commissioned after the installation for proper functionality. The local operators must be trained in the use, operation and maintenance of the new generator.
- A final report describing the work and installation done must be submitted after the completion of the installation of the new generator, including description of load and load balance on the generator.
- The report must include statements of completion of each task. The report must also include documentation and maintenance plan for the new generator as well as any recommendation for future actions or improvements needed or possible for the power installation.
- All on-site work shall be planned and executed to minimize station down time. Special care shall be taken to ensure power supply to the detector cooling system during the installation in coordination with the local station operator.
